Dedication

We, the Class of 1928, respectfully dedicate this volume to Dr. George
E. Fisher for his earnest and tireless efforts in advancing the ideals of our Alma Mater.

Foreword

To foster the ideals of Chivalry and of the Crusades, of which the escallop shell was most symbolic, we, the Class of 1928, submit this volume.

We hope that these pages may ever spur you to greater achievement on your pilgrimage through life.

I—The College

II—The Classes

III—Athletics

IV—Organizations

V—Humor

Bubble Cheat

Transparent sphere upon a rim of white.
More air—thin sides are reeling color, wine,
Dim purple, gold, and violet of night
Are spun with castle turrets, chisled fine;
With banners woven vari-colored silk;
The towers, parapets—chalcedony.
What, what! the whirling walls are filmy milk:
A hollow plunk!—and subtle irony.

Youth, and Life's castles loom to them afar;
Such fancied hopes are always melting blue.
They hooked their fragile wagons to a star,
But steed was old, the drivers yet were new.
A thousand wrecks ensue, strewn out on Time:
Reality had pierced each wish sublime.

Senior History

The thoughts of one dismal morning in September, 1923, when we were assembled at Susquehanna University to begin the acquisition of what is commonly known as an education, now swell our hearts with a longing to be once more those timid, weak Freshmen. Ah, yes, we were timid and constantly losing our way. We either forgot to go to some of our classes or could not find the right classroom. It was as though some mighty army descended upon us to wield an iron hand. Yea, even more than an iron hand, presenting, as they did, our first Freshman rules. Fear for those Sophomores caused many a poor Freshman to tremble. To conduct themselves as true sons and daughters of old S. U. it took much coaching and paddling on the part of the Sophomore; much patience on the part of the faculty; and considerable effort on the part of the members of the class themselves.

Slowly, steadily, as we became acclimated to these new surroundings, not only in the classrooms, did we distinguish ourselves but also in the social life of the campus and the athletic contests of the college. As an active class, the Freshman could not be excelled, winning that year the indoor track meet. The co-eds aided materially in the winning of the soccer trophy. With those victories our Freshman year came to a close.

The name, Sophomores, is now given to us with the authority to administer the rules to those in the class below. Much work on the part of some members of the class ended in the publishing of the last edition of the school calendars. That our class had ability and was not afraid to work for our Alma Mater was manifest everywhere. Soccer as well as hockey trophies were won by our co-eds. In the football game the Sophomores held the Freshmen to a tie.

With the opening of the Junior year, work immediately began on the Lanthorn. By the aid of this yearly book, we, the present Senior Class, will be able to keep before us the pictures and the history of our dear classmates. The second Junior Prom in the history of our college was given by our Class of '27. We hope that in the future the Prom will not be a novelty but an established custom.

We have now been on the campus four years. We have seen classes come and go, and it is with awe that we look to the close of our Senior year. The years of training have given us a deeper insight, a broader view in the understandings of life, so that we may, in turn, help those who are struggling to gain the best that life may offer.

ANNA GEATING,

Class Historian.

Good-natured, humorous, and tantalizing, are the terms the students at the "Con" use when they speak of "Rosie." He is a source of constant amusement to everyone, and if you have the blues he will drive them away.

"Rosie" has crossed all girls off his list except the "one" in Lewistown, much to the sorrow of some of our co-eds. Some day we will hear of him as the organist of a large theatre, as, even now, his ability as a musician is recognized and appreciated.

This modest little lassie is just another product of the coal regions. Laura is a fine student and can always be depended on to give a good recitation. She has a very amiable disposition, possibly due to the "sunshine" that is always in the room.

We were all sorry to learn that Laura will forsake our class and start her work a year earlier than most of us. The Class of '28 wishes her success and we feel sure that some day letters will stop flying to and from Muhlenberg, and Laura will be forsaking teaching for another profession. Best wishes.

This brown-eyed youth came to us from the flourishing metropolis of Sunbury, which proves that it is not such a dead place after all, for Johnnie is the modest possessor of one of the keenest wits on the campus.

He is everybody's friend. His generous sympathy and readiness to lend a hand to any enterprise have probably made him the recipient of many requests, but the same qualities have won him hosts of friends, besides responsible positions in his class and other organizations.

In athletics he has played a prominent part. Altho somewhat light for football he stuck to the game, and when his opportunity came, he made a splendid record. He has the good wishes of his friends that he may dodge the bumps of life with the same cunning with which he avoided the Swarthmore line.

"Bachie"

Occasionally George takes his social cuts with the rest of the boys. But we believe that Bachie's affections are parked elsewhere, for we often find him with a faraway look in his eyes—perhaps as far away as Philadelphia.

Bachie has won fame on the diamond, being an expert fly-catcher and an able farmer of the left field. Always bubbling over with ambition and cheer he has proved himself a moral support to that team whether he was a player or a spectator. He might aptly be called "happy-go-lucky George," for nothing seems to worry him, in fact, the more he has on his mind the happier he is. A more genial and all-around fellow is not to be found on the campus. A friend in plenty or in need, and, like most gentlemen, he has a strong preference for blonds.

Ray is one with whom we are not really well acquainted, but we do know him to be a student, and one who has recognized that he is here for a purpose. Little is to be seen of Ray outside of the classrooms, all of which is to his credit if one were to judge from his scholastic standing. If the present is but a road that leads to the future we are sure that he will be a success in whatever profession he may choose.

Here is the most popular boy on the campus. Every girl in Seibert Hall has been guilty of running after him at one time or another. He carries letters so faithfully and good-naturedly that we wonder who can take his place.

And surely you have seen "Hoolie" out on the baseball diamond—his excellent catching is an outstanding feature of any game; but, while baseball may be his favorite sport, he has also taken an active part in all inter-class games.

He has an easy, determined way, and may be depended on. "Hoolie" is a busy boy on the campus, but he frequently puts everything aside and leaves. She should consider herself lucky.

We do not know what "Hoolie" intends to do after he leaves Susquehanna, but, whatever it is, we are sure it will be done well.

In the Autumn of 1923, the man whose face appears above, fled the wilds of a big city to establish himself firmly upon the campus and in the hearts of the co-eds of S. U.

When the class of '28 arrived the following fall, Bob was awaiting us with eager face and shining eyes. Thru his academic experiences "Bob" was qualified to instruct in the mysteries of college life. As an "instructor" he was inferior to none.

In addition to his professional and social activities, our hero is engaged in the pursuit of the "perfect voice," and from indications his quest will be a successful one. Bob intends to be the sales manager of a large corporation but we hate to see a tenor of his potentialities wasted in a stuffy office. We hope that Bob will realize his mistake and present himself as the answer to a maiden's prayer—no, no—as the culmination of the Metropolitan's search for the successor of Caruso.

These sterling qualities have been already discovered by a certain young gentleman at home. He is very "Frank" about it and if we judge rightly, Emma will not always be in the teaching profession.

Emma is the youngest member of our class and one of the brightest. She, however, has another outstanding characteristic which was brought out in the sign. Do you believe in signs? She has a smile that won't wear off.

"Dick" has decided to enter into the spirit of college life and spend his week-ends on the campus. We predict that he will be among the honor students in the coming campusty course. Perhaps that is the reason that he does not go home every week-end, but spends them in Sunbury. He is very exacting in many things, especially in combing his unshorn locks. And we have also observed that he is endowed with a perpetual smile and its accompanying philosophy. Yes, you are right, he possesses those peculiarities that mark him as one of the sheiks of our class.

He is artistically inclined and at times we have flashes of his artistic temperament, and evidences of his artistic nature can be seen almost anywhere, especially in his class books. All right, keep it up, Dick, the movies will find you out yet or if they don't some Prof may.

Her charm lies in her character. Essex is the kind of girl that is necessary to any group. Her good sense, ready understanding, instant sympathy and ability to please have won her many friends. Essex's attitude toward life is serious and that quality of keen responsibility that she applies to every task will carry her far in the future. But she does not lack a sense of humor; there is a sparkle behind her eyes that fairly dances upon the least provocation.

Essex has an excellent speaking voice and for that reason has been an active debater for the past two years. Because she is able to temper justice with mercy she is an invaluable member of the Student Council. "Dutch" came to our fair campus with quite a reputation as a student. He has not only made an envious record as a student for himself, but has always been willing to carry his earnestness into his extra-curricular activities. He has played in the college orchestra each year; always proved an active member of the Y. M. C. A.; besides this he honorably fills a position on the Susquehanna Staff.

With an effort "Dutch" has steered clear of the fair co-eds, but it is a well-known fact that he receives letters from Sheffield frequently. And we have little doubt but that this is where the "one" lives.

We predict a great future for this Juniata Countian, for he has ably demonstrated what sincerity and earnestness can accomplish. Can he but live the future as he is living the present, he is surely destined to become a leader among men. Like Lincoln he started in a country store.

In "Brains" we have one of the very best sports that ever came to S. U. She is a friend to everyone and is always ready for any undertaking, even to arousing the fellows to break up the Freshmen "get-away."

Marian is listed as one of the stellar athletes of the class of '28. Where would we have been had not reliable "Brains" made for us that famous goal that won the hockey championship? Her dancing reputation has won her fame, and she is also one of Prof. Keener's most ardent pupils.

The crowning feature of Marion's character is her keen sense of humor. We guarantee that anyone with a case of blues will soon be cured if "Brains" is near.

Mary is of a happy and jovial disposition and cracks jokes and witticisms as easily as any humorist. Her laugh is easily recognized anywhere in the dorm at any hour, and she is always ready to share in any fun. Mary has gained quite a reputation as a journalist for she is the only girl on the Susquehanna Staff.

In sports Mary is very active, baseball being her favorite; many a home-run has been made by her. All in all Mary is the best pal you can find. Success will surely come to her, and her cheery manner of greeting will be a strong point in her favor.

"George"

"George," as this demure-looking lass is known to all of us, is another student in the "Con." She is a conscientious student and can always be relied upon to get her work done to the very best of her ability.

In the college classes, "George" seems to get stage-fright and her voice is very weak during her recitation. However, with experience in her profession, she will overcome her timidity.

From all indications there is some attraction upon the campus as "George" does not forsake us over the week-ends as she used to do. Whether it is the "beautiful Spring" or the "frosty Autumn," we wish "Georgeine" the best of luck in all she undertakes.

Elizabeth is not only one of the day students who haunt the Halls of Knowledge at old S. U., but is also one of the night students who drink coffee to keep awake, and then read poetry to counteract the effects of the coffee. She is rather quiet, apparently believing that people should be seen and not heard. She is conscientious and studious but when she enters into a discussion on the co-eds' pet theory, "All men are dears," she expresses her opinion by saying, "If all men are deers, let them keep running."

All in all Elizabeth will be qualified to enter the teaching profession.

"Pats," the captain-elect of the football team for next year, is well fitted for the position, since his athletic ability is very evident on the field or in the ring. For the past three seasons he has held down the wing position, and, altho not big, he makes up for it in fight. Back home Patsey holds the "Light-weight Amateur Title" of Southern New York, and if boxing were introduced at Susquehanna, the light-weight division would be well cared for.

In the fall of 1924 among the young men who answered the call of Susquehanna was Willis Pratt. This young man, although from the home of the "Square Deal Policy" and "Shoe Manufacturing," came here in the quest of knowledge in our Business Department. Here he may find that knowledge that will put him in the business world of finance and commerce.

"Hoopy's" athletic career was limited to a certain extent. His best bet was in football. Although he was a substitute, we always found him plunging and giving his best for his Alma Mater. He always answered the call of the whistle even when he had his nose broken seven times in one season. He showed to us that fighting spirit that has been instilled in him since his first day. He is a leader in all activities about the campus. Socially, "Pratty" stands high in the heart of one fair co-ed especially. For this reason "Pratty" spends most of his spare minutes in or about Seibert Hall.

We all wish you success in business and especially the mine pump manufacturing. "Wishing you the touchdown in the game of life."

"Come clean" "Sweet cookie man"
"Suitcase Doc"

Harry Dudley comes to us from Ridley Park, much to the gain of Susquehanna. On registration day of '24, Dudley informed the upper class boys that he took rules at the institution of learning in Philadelphia, but after a thorough investigation Dudley found his place in the Freshman parade that slowly wound its way to the graveyard.

Dudley is one of the social aces of the campus, but his activities are not exclusively in that line. His success in the social world is due to his ever present smile and his trick dance steps which he learned in the dance halls of Freeburg.

Doc is a pre-medical student and is sure to be a success, because he is now doing interne work in Hassinger Hall among the "Sons of John Hassinger."

Dudley's athletic ability cannot be questioned; had it not been for injuries received during his Freshman year he would rank among our prominent letter men today.

As to the future, his class mates wish him success in his chosen field. We would not doubt that he will gain a prominent place in the medical profession.

A merry laugh, a keen sense of humor and a joyous disposition, all blend to make "Bill" one of the most popular fellows on the campus. "Bill's" laugh is more famous than any other in Hassinger Hall, except, perhaps, his roommate's. He can charm an audience with his clear tenor voice, and this he did admirably in "Cleopatra." The class of '28 can predict great things for "Bill" in the musical world.

In fact, his laugh has gained fame for it is so infectious and may be recognized anywhere. "Hobby" is everyone's friend. If ever one needs help he is there to give it, if it is at all within his power.

"Hobby's" chief hobby is basketball. In this he shines forth like a beacon light. He has, with his determination and skill, helped our class and his "frat" to many a victory.

No one with "Hobby's" love of life can be kept down, consequently we know that he will be a credit to his Alma Mater no matter what his chosen vocation may be.

Calvin belongs to that class of college students who not only buy books, but very nearly wear them out. His powers of concentration and general stick-to-itiveness augur well for his future success.

Rumor has it that a certain young Newport damsel refers to him as "my Calvin." Without a doubt his "sheet metal chariot" could tell you more of this than we can.

To the future "Prof" Sarver our hats are off, for we believe that our Alma Mater will some day look upon him as one of her most noted sons.

"Truth is often stranger than fiction," but "Fritter" has developed into a social lion, and his field of activity knows no bounds.

But we must not think that "Fritter's" activities are limited to the social clime, for he is likewise an alert student, in fact and theory. Junior History

In the fall of 1924, we came to Susquehanna, a band of Crusaders, filled with a great enthusiasm to become a part of this noble University, and eager to join the ranks of those in search of an education. Verdant, and in need of guidance, were we Crusaders when we first arrived. The Sophomores manfully undertook the great responsibility of making us real "Susquehannians," for which we are thoroughly appreciative. These upper classmen, however, did not long hold the high and mighty hand, for only a very short time elapsed after our advent until we had secretly organized and successfully managed a "getaway." The Sophomores were made to pay homage to us Crusaders when our stalwart men completely overwhelmed them in the "Tie-up." That event was just a beginning in the display of our strength, for this same year we won the boys' inter-class soccer, the girls' inter-class basketball, baseball, outdoor track meet and the boys' and girls' inter-class indoor track meet championships.

We Crusaders came back our second year burning with the ardent desire of doing our bit to help Susquehanna on to bigger and better things. The first step was taken in this direction by guiding the Frosh in the way in which they should go, hoping that when they are old they will not depart therefrom. This new class realized the superiority of us Crusaders when they were completely annihilated in the "Tie-up" and not one of our men was carried from the field of the battle. Again, in our Sophomore year we gained laurels in athletics by winning once more the indoor track meet and the girls' inter-class basketball and baseball trophies.

This, our Junior year, was entered upon by the Crusaders with a serious and thoughtful trend of mind. Great things presented themselves to be accomplished, the greatest of which was the publication of the LANTHORN. Not alone in serious things have we dealt this year, for we have maintained our reputation in athletics. Our Co-eds have come through another year undefeated in indoor track and in hockey, while the boys have won the inter-class basketball championship.

Our class has been extremely unfortunate in having lost two of its members who entered with us as Freshmen. They were Mildred Snyder, who died in January, 1926, and Paul Olson, who died in December, 1926. We deeply regret having to lose two of our classmates so soon along the highway of life.

We, the Crusaders, have tried to uphold the customs and traditions of our Alma Mater, and hope that this LANTHORN will be of sufficient benefit to bring about greater things for Susquehanna.

For the second time within the space of a few short months the curtain has been drawn, leaving us happy and proud that just another act in our short drama has been successfully received.

Our first appearance on the stage of old S. U.'s broad campus was indeed a matter of great note. How well we remember that glorious moonlight night, the keen air sparkling with the silvery radiance when everything (even the Sophs) was wrapped in the stillness of slumber except the Class of '29.

Nor can we forget the triumphs of our noble warriors, who captured the Inter-class Basketball Championship and our plucky maids who had no equal on the baseball field winning the Inter-class Baseball Championship with ease.

When the curtain closed on these happy triumphs it closed upon a blundering, hopeful group and when it opened for the second time it found us prepared to receive our guest—The Freshman! And so cordial a reception did we give them that the audience shouted with excitement and the campus echoed the confusion for days.

Our little band of warriors held the strong array of Frosh secure in our annual "Tie-up Day" battle. Our loyal maids deemed it necessary to make the Frosh as presentable as possible. And how cunning they all looked! Perfect Topsyies! Yes, Topsy would be the very person to carry an umbrella upside down and wear stockings of various hues.

In athletics our old ability was manifest. Football, Basketball, Baseball and Track saw us well represented. Our co-eds played a fast game of Hockey, and won the Inter-class Basketball Championship by their brilliant playing.

The Class of '29, always laboring faithfully for her Alma Mater, was near the front in all her undertakings. So with the close of "'29's College Days" we are glad, yet sad for it means that our drama is nearly ended—that we are one year nearer our future destiny but also that our happy days at S. U. are just one year shorter. But pressing on with stronger ambitions and more valiant hopes we await the future, confident that '29 is destined to place itself and old S. U. among the truly great.

History of the Class of '30

On one beautiful autumn day in the fall of 1926, some hundred and fifty bewildered looking persons arrived at S. U.'s campus. They were Freshmen, the upper-classmen did not have to look twice to discover that. However, within the course of a few days, both fellows and girls were decked out in true Freshman garb, thus fixing their identity.

The Freshman-Sophomore tie-up was a great event in the lives of the Class of 1930. The Frosh fought with a purpose, as did the Sophomores so that the final score was a 0-0 tie. The Freshman girls had been characteristically adorned by the Sophs for the occasion, which added much to the picturesqueness of the event.

The Class of '30 took a very keen interest in the Campaign for a bigger and better Susquehanna. John McHugh and Grace Lauer were elected to take charge of this. Out of the total, $40,000, which was pledged by the student body, the Freshmen contributed $11,385.

In the early morning of October 1, the Frosh arose and made their way up the hill toward the traditional cemetery. It was raining, but rain did not dampen the cheerful spirits of the adventurers. We had planned the "get-a-way" for several days and at last our hopes materialized. From the cemetery we hiked to Salem's Woods, where we held a marshmallow and wiener roast, after which we elected the following officers: President, Luke Rhoads; Vice-President, Gertrude Fisher; Secretary, Gerney Kissinger; Treasurer, Milton Wolfe. As the sun rose, a happy, sleepy bunch of Dan McGrew" in pantomime and won first prize for the best entertainment of the event and had moved our belongings out on the campus, doing their bit.

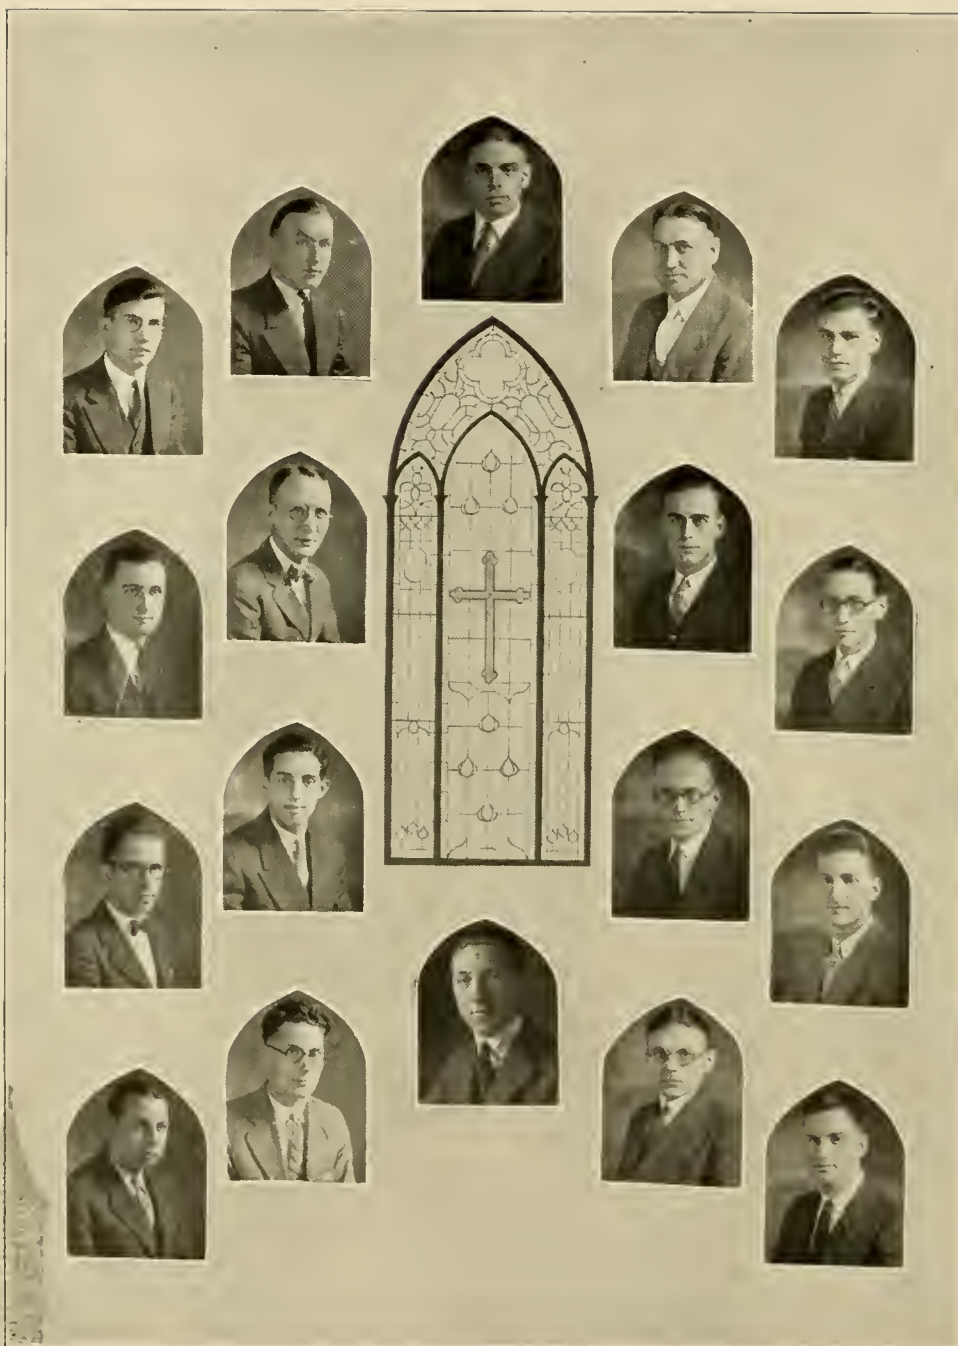

At the Hallowe'en party, the Freshmen very capably presented "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" in pantomime and won first prize for the best entertainment of the evening.

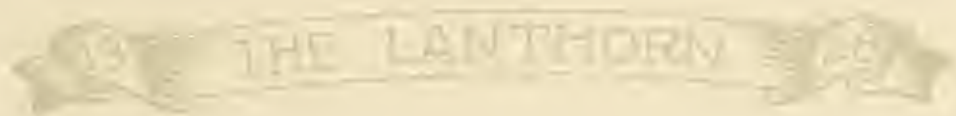

A re-election was held in January at which time the following officers were chosen: President, Luke Rhoads; Vice-President, Marie Heins; Secretary, Anna Cleaver; Treasurer, Milton Wolfe; Historians, Frances Thomas and Edward Bollinger. The Class of '30 selected Dr. Dunkelberger as their class advisor.

The Freshmen were well represented in the extra-curricula activities of S. U. Nine of the fifteen letter men in football were Freshmen, while several of the basketball men were Freshman representatives. The class was represented on both girls' debating teams, and seven Freshmen girls were members of the Ladies' Choral Club. Five Freshmen fellows held positions in the Men's Glee Club. Thus the Class of '30 has endeavored to uphold the traditions of S. U. and to carry out the ideals established by their worthy upper-classmen.

FOOTBALL

Our fondest dreams of earlier years are gradually being realized, and the loyal followers who saw the Little Crusaders in battle array will readily vouch for this statement.

On coming back to the campus in the Fall, we were surprised and delighted to find that our new coach, Mr. Morgan, had a squad on the field that was in fine condition and which looked very promising.

When you take into consideration the teams played and the new material with which Coach Morgan was compelled to work--the most severe critic will say that Susquehanna has had the most successful football season in years.

The first game played was with Penn State and the eleven did some fine work in the third quarter, holding the powerful State team to one touchdown. The Swarthmore game was lost in the last few seconds of play, but the Little Crusaders came to the front the following week with a victory over Drexel. We lost to Temple, then rallied and won two straight from Juniata and Upsala. Defeats were handed to us from P. M. C. and Lafayette; after winning from Alfred, the final game was dropped to Schuylkill. Some of these teams were entirely out of Susquehanna's class, but excepting these, our showing was very favorable.

Last year a prediction was made which has been fulfilled beyond our highest expectations.

"Alma Mater, we promised you better athletic teams at Susquehanna. Our promise is being realized and in the coming years Susquehanna's name will again stand forth in the spotlight of College Activities."

MEANS

Captain Means held down the tackle position with honor, in fact, he played well wherever the coach placed him. When it came to backing up the line, "Dan" was unexcelled, and he certainly could "pep" up the boys. This is "Fent's" Senior year and we will certainly miss him.

AUTEN

"Johnny," although he was light in weight, played a "bang-up" game of football. He filled one of the half-back positions. Dodging and evading tacklers was a specialty for him. Not only did he play a good defensive game but equally as well on the offense.

SMITH

Carl, playing his second year on the line, has proved himself worthy of the name Smith. When a play was going through his part of the line, you could always depend upon Carl to make an opening. He has one more year in which to display his powers.

CASELL

Every student at S. U. knows "Ken" and his brilliant work at tackle, last fall. He was late in coming out for his third year of varsity, but after he got started, the coach found him to be a great asset to the team.

GROCE

The fine playing of Groce has never ceased to be the talk of the football fans. When called upon to carry the ball, we could always depend upon a good, substantial gain from "Grocey." His excellent passing was always a feature of the game.

HENRY

Henry, although somewhat light for a backfield position, proved to be an efficient quarter when needed. He will be a loss to the team next year, because of graduation.

GIMMIE

Captain-elect Gimmie from his Freshman year has held down end very ably. When it came to "smearing" plays and picking passes out of the air "Patsy" was right there. You could depend upon a play around his end of the line. We are anticipating great things from him next year.

SHUE

"Spurg" came to the front this year and proved to be a tireless worker and tower of strength to the Orange and Maroon line. His limitless energy and determination were great obstacles in the way of his opponents.

DELAY

Delay, one of Tamaqua High's star athletes, alternating at end and tackle, did good work for S. U. With three years of experience on the team, he should develop into a real star.

PRATT

Giving to the team the best he has, Pratt has been doing very good work at the halfback position. Next year is his last year on the squad and we are expecting to have great things from "Pratty."

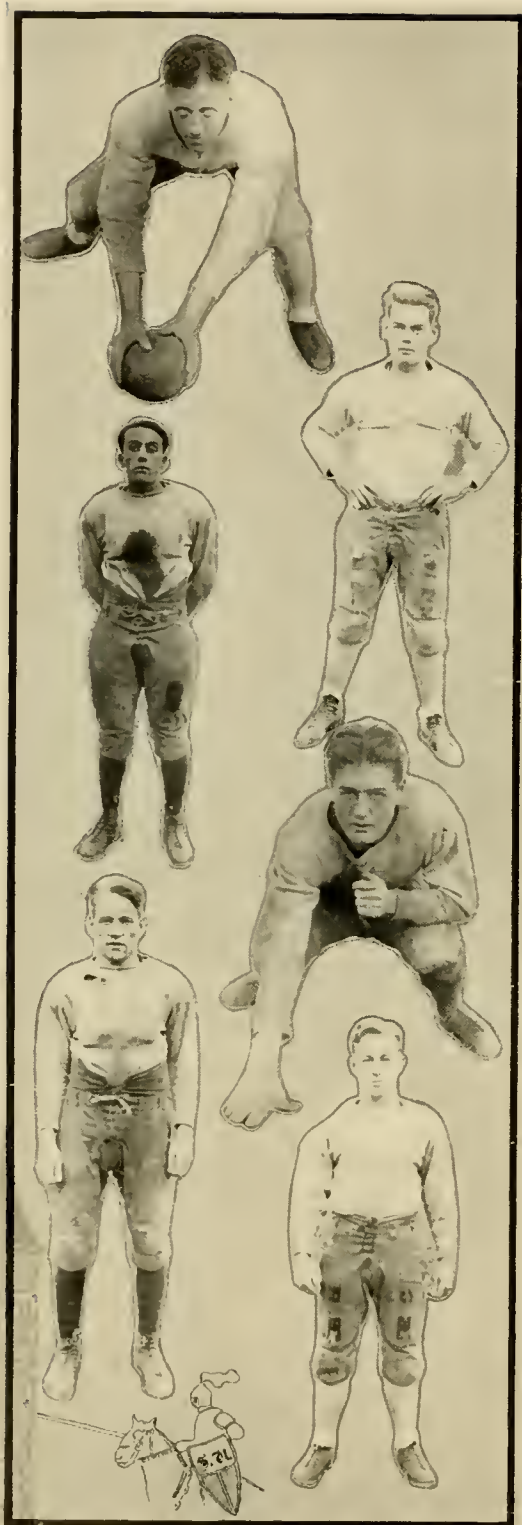

EASTWOOD

"Red" comes to us from Evansville, Ind. This is his first year on the squad, and, when called upon to do his part, he was always there with the goods. "Red" has the makings of a real football star and next year will see him a mainstay of the Little Crusaders.

NICODEMUS

"Nick" came to us from Gettysburg. He played one of the tackle positions with credit. He always played a consistent game and gave the best he had at all times. Injuries also hindered him from showing his best at the end of the season.

OF THE LANTHORN

WALL

Wall is also an Indiana boy. At the pivot position his passes were always perfect, his plunging sure and consistent. John was among our cool-headed players and he has three more years on the varsity in which to worry his opponents.

HARE

Hare played an exceptionally fine game at center, but due to injuries the latter part of the season, he was unable to show his best. We hope to hear more from this lad next year.

DAVIES

Davies comes to us from Endicott, N. Y. He played a whale of a game at halfback and was a wonder at picking out the weak spots on the opponents' line. And that isn't all, he could place a drop kick from almost any angle in the field.

DODD

Here is a lad who has upheld the family name to the fullest extent, for you all remember his brother, Larry. Dodd is playing his first year of varsity football and has done credit to the halfback position. We are looking forward to even bigger things from him in the future.

CARSON

Carson, another first year man at Susquehanna, was one of the best backfield men on the squad. He was not only speedy in carrying the ball, but he was a hard and sure tackler as well.

SWYERS

Swyers, playing his first year of varsity football, held down the quarterback position with credit. Although the smallest man in the squad, he is the fastest. But in the coming years we can see "Bucky" in his regular berth on the backfield.

SIEGFRIED

"Siggy," a local boy, proved himself worthy of the position on the squad. His grit and willingness should be evidence that he gives his best at all times.

PAUL ULRICH

"Red," our regular quarterback during the season, played well. His forward passing and field running proved a tower of strength to the backfield. This young man can be greatly relied upon in the future.

SPAID

Spaid is a local boy, coming from Selinsgrove. This is his first year of varsity football and he played a very fine game on the line. In his remaining two years we feel that "Jack" will be a credit to the squad.

MARKS

Marks is also a Selinsgrove lad. He played a hard, consistent game and could be depended upon at all times. He gave the best that he had for the Orange and Maroon. Next year we hope to see him earn a regular berth on the squad.

ROOF

Roof came to us from Yeagertown two years ago and since then he has shown up very well. He is one of the tallest men on the squad and played a wonderful game at end. "Russ" has two more years of varsity football in which to exercise that smashing drive of his.

BRUNOZZI

Brunozzi, a new man on our team, came to us from Bloomsburg State Normal. He filled one of the guard positions, and, although he is small in stature, proved himself worthy of the position by his fighting spirit and hard playing.

RUDOWSKI

Here is a man who tried the expedient of reducing weight by working off his surplus energy on his opponents. Both were successfully reduced whenever he went into action.

MOSER

Moser, the rip-smashing fullback, never failed to gain yardage when called upon in a pinch. He has upheld the standard of the western boys to the fullest extent and it always causes a thrill of pleasure to see him go tearing through the line.

WORMLEY

Wormley was one of the Freshman members of the squad. He played well at end. Whenever he was called upon he did his best for the team. With three more years under Coach Morgan, a great deal can be expected of him.

MOYER

Moyer also showed up well on the line. He had plenty of fighting spirit and driving power. This being his first year on the squad we may hear a lot more from him next fall.

MORGAN

Much credit must be given Coach Morgan for his never tiring efforts in producing a winning football team. That his work was not in vain can be readily seen by the scores that his boys piled up. Susquehanna students will never tire of telling of the good Coach Morgan did for the school.

BRUBAKER

As a manager "Billy" could not be beaten; for when it came to taking care of the business end of the football team, looking after the needs of the men and keeping an eye on the equipment, he was always on the job. "Bru" was a hard worker and enough cannot be said of his efforts.

Basketball 1926

Coach Follmer and his basketeers began the year with high hopes of making the season a success, in spite of the fact a hard schedule was before them.

The fast Western Maryland team gave them their first defeat, which was also the first game played. They were then defeated by Juniata, St. Francis, Penn State, Mt. St. Mary's, Drexel, Temple and St. Thomas. Then on our home floor they defeated Philadelphia School of Osteopathy by a margin of ten points, and the strong St. Francis cagers who had won from them earlier in the season. This gave the team more encouragement and although Schuylkill and Swarthmore won the last two games, our players showed a marked improvement over the first few combats.

Although we had only two victories during the season, the team showed fine fighting spirit, and all the games played were thrilling from the start to finish. Next year under our new coach we are positive that more victories will be won. Susquehanna will be represented by a winning team.

Frail cup of white
with your purple throat,
I have loved you.

You have stabbed
my red heart
with your dagger-leaves;
What, the wind has shaken
golden dregs
to the bottom?

How do gnomes drink
amber dew from that flaçon, do they get saffron dust
on their noses?

Once I saw a snowy lobe
rimmed with scarlet—
Say, did some fairy-queen
have too much rouge
on her lips?

1926 Baseball

The other day
I heard a
Great coach
Say that no team
Could always win
Unless there was Something very Unusual
About that team
And so I am
Glad to state
That there was Nothing
Very unusual
About Susquehanna's
Baseball team,
In the past season
As she lost
Nine games
And won five
Games
In order that
She would not
Be considered
Too unusual
After "Pat Clemens
Adroitly whipped
The S. U. nine
Into good shape
S. U. opened
The season here
By losing a
Hard fought game
To Schuylkill College
In ten innings
By a score of
Four to three
But we came back
And defeated Juniata

In the ninth inning
By a score of
Seven to six
Which was Very fine
So Susquehanna
Drove to Schuylkill
And defeated
That college
By a score of
Thirteen to five
Which was excellent
And coach Clemens
And Captain Bolig
And Manager Lutz
And the good team
Felt excellent
Until they were Surprised and Ambushed by
The Juniata Indians
And forced to Flee with Three scalps
To Juniata's eight
Shining locks
Then while Still fleeing
S. U.'s courage
Was further
Tried by the Assaults of
The State College team
Which defeated us
By the same score
Then S. U. quickly
Ran home.
But when Ursinus
Defeated the

Home team
By a score of
Two to one
And F & M
Flogged us
Ten to three
And Gettysburg
Eight to four
And Lebanon Valley
Seven to four
And Swarthmore
Twelve to four
Then Susquehanna
Became angry
And defeated F & M
By a score of
Seven to five
And then we Stepped on Lebanon Valley
And walloped them
Three to one
And later we Trimmed the "Aluminums"
One to nothing
Which goes to Prove that Baseball is
A fickle game
And also that
While old S. U.'s
Baseball team
Fought well
And took it's "cuts"
It was not
Very unusual
The last Season.

The annual Inter-class indoor meet opened the track season late in March in the Alumni Gymnasium. After the fight for class supremacy was over Coach Mowles called for varsity candidates. Although the team felt the loss of several veterans, constant work with the new men developed a well-balanced team.

May 1, on our home field, the team defeated Drexel Institute in a dual meet by the score of 67 2-3, to 58 1-3. The meet was an interesting one. Both teams were in fine condition. The following week the team journeyed to Reading and defeated Schuylkill College by a score of 69-39. The team annexed nine firsts out of the twelve events. Our Crusaders then entered the Central Pennsylvania Meet held at Carlisle. Here they made a very fine showing by taking second honors. The last meet of the season was held on our home field with the Juniata cindermen. They had a very well organized team and defeated S. U. 82-42.

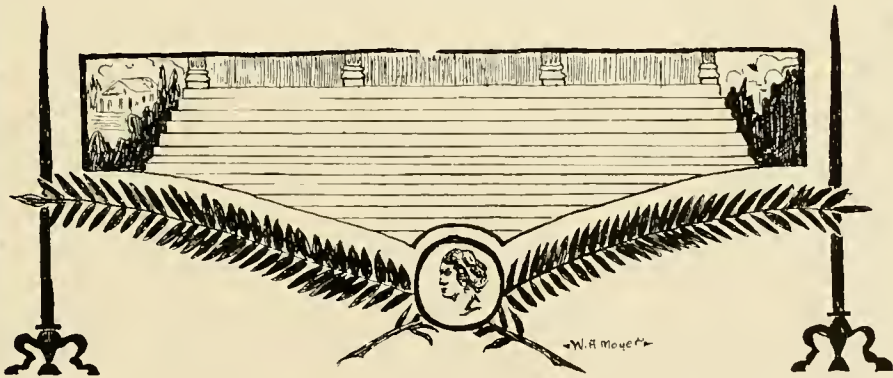

The outlook for the present season is very promising. Several of the old men are back and the Freshmen Class is expected to contribute many new men.

Debate Association

Anyone desiring to prepare himself or herself for the occasions in active life when public speech is required can do no better than supplement the work of the classes in public speaking by practice in debate. Anyone of the student body is eligible for active membership. The men and the women come under different managerships but all work for the common good of the association.

The campaign conducted by Susquehanna, this past fall, made the organization of the varsity teams rather late in forming, but the teams swung into action and can well see the advantages that will be enjoyed in the next debating season because of the finer spirit of co-operation which has been enhanced.

Dr. John I. Woodruff, Head of the English Department, helped by his criticism of the weak points in the practice debates, and the association assuredly appreciates the work and co-operation of Dr. George F. Dunkelberger, Professor of Education; Dr. Jacob Diehl, Professor of Psychology; Prof. Nathan N. Keener, Professor of Public Speaking and Dr. H. A. F. Kern, Professor of German.

The Lanthorn

Without a summary of events, a crystallization of facts as they are among the student body and on the campus, no college would be complete. Souvenirs are taken from places of distinguished occurrence, autographs are asked from persons of renown—there must be something to remind, something that has the power to make scenes and friendly faces live again. Friendships are formed, acquaintanceships grow; what is more fitting than that they all be grouped in compact, suitable form for the convenience of the student body? To someone falls the task of preparing the feast that others enjoy; to someone must fall the task and the privilege of preparing the feast of pictures and records. That someone responsible for its culmination is the Junior Class.

Even as the LANTHORN of "ye olden days" lighted the dark maze of the streets, casting a soft, mellow glow about, so the LANTHORN has for its purpose a lighting of the paths of memory.

Each succeeding college year finds more students grouping themselves beneath the banners of Susquehanna. The LANTHORN strives to include them all within the range of its beneficent rays.

The Susquehanna

The daily newspaper of the great cities fulfils its task of carrying the daily news to those who are interested or have participated in the events of the day. Thru the press ideas are expressed, opinions are voiced, and by the freedom of the press a greater realization of the existence of like-mindedness is brought forth.

The college paper, published weekly, meets those same needs for the members of the college community as well as bringing them into touch with sister institutions. Students, alumni and friends of the institution feel a vital interest when they read the "Susquehanna."

Valuable experience is offered to those desiring experience in news reporting, writing of special articles and general management of newspaper work. Students gather the news, write it, edit and publish it. Much of the work in school life is allowed to the students for their own control, developing within them a strong sense of responsibility. Student government is effective, and student publications receive the hearty support of the student body.

School Calendar

February A.D. The deeds of the Crusaders during the past year have been so interesting and so important that our Chief wants us to record them in chronological order. As the valor and chivalry of the knights of old were lauded, so shall the knights of Susquehanna be rewarded for their services. They have been strong and noble and we feel that they justly deserve some commendation. This record is but a small item in praising the Crusaders but it is the best we can do. Now for their deeds.

February 15. Very quiet evening. Social hour from 6 to 7.

February 16. Epsilon Sigma led Y. M. C. A. Prof. Keener's expression class gave two sketches.

February 17. Lent begins, many resolutions made but few kept. Busy evening with several basketball games and debate.

February 18. Prexy announces that we would have no classes on Monday because of Washington's Birthday. Everybody happy.

February 19. Phi Beta Rho have party in honor of Washington.

February 20. Freshmen girls beat upper class girls, 17-13. Hard fought game throughout. Epsilon Sigma Fraternity dance.

February 21. Everybody spent a very quiet Sunday. Some were ambitious enough to attend Church. Song service in the evening.

February 22. Holiday. The students saddened by Arbogast's resignation.

February 23. Phi Beta Rho conducting Y. M. C. A., and campus popularity discussed at Y. W. C. A.

February 24. Negative debating team defeated Capital University at home. Frosh defeated Seniors, 25-12; Sophs defeated Theologs, 24-10.

February 25. Hurrah, we won! Defeated St. Francis, 30-22. Everybody excited over the fact.

February 26. O. D. S. pledges gave "Sweetheart Tea." Varsity defeated by Temple, 48-36.

February 27. Our negative Debating Team (The Dining-room Trio) defeated Albright, 2-1.

February 28. Couples go to Trinity Church. "Mart" and "Greg" decide to have a parlor date.

March 5. Phi Mu Delta have banquet for pledges at National Hotel.

March 6. Sophomore girls win championship by defeating Frosh, 15-12. Varsity bows to Swarthmore, 59-33.

March 7. Girls lose much of their beauty sleep because of pin stuck in door-bell. "De" proves the heroine.

March 8. The weather decides to fool us, cold and snowy for a short time. Social hour.

March 9. Prof. Brungart's classes do not meet today due to the death of his father. New organization on campus. The 500 Club of Hassinger Hall has become quite famous. Entrance requirements not very stiff. Y. M. and Y. W. elect at the latter.

March 10. Phi Mu Delta musical comedy, "Look Who's Here." Very entertaining. Fellows appeared well as co-eds, especially "Bill" Landis.

March 11. Students and faculty pledges toward $1000 patron fund for Andra Christian College—$420 raised. Debate, our affirmative with Western Maryland negative, they win, 2-1.

March 12. Mr. Arthur Black, of Springfield, Ohio, General Secretary of Lutheran Laymen's Movement, spoke at Chapel. We played Schuylkill away, score 39-30, in their favor.

March 13. Bond and Key hold eleventh annual St. Patrick's Party.

March 14. Quiet day. Everybody rests.

March 15. Prof. Mowles announces that next year we will have Ray Morgan, as coach for football, basketball, and baseball. B and K beat non-frat.

March 16. Word comes to us that Phi Mu Delta receives a silver loving cup, as a reward for scholastic attainment in 1925.

March 17. St. Patrick's Day. Mu Sigma Gamma active honorary members entertained at a party in the Conservatory. B and K defeat P. M. D.

March 18. Fifth Annual Indoor Track Meet in Gym. Sophomore class wins again this year. Several records broken.

And now, Dear Readers, we have reached the end of our account. The Crusaders did their best to furnish amusement for you, so show your appreciation to them by reading this diary. If you read it, we will feel that their efforts were not in vain, if you do not, it will be your loss. Some of the deeds we have not published—why—ask those who know all about the escapades. It will furnish an evening's entertainment. Our story is over, the Crusaders rush off to attend tournaments for another year, during which time they will win more laurels for their Alma Mater. To all our readers, we bid you a fond farewell.

She was young, very young, and ignorant of the world, and that night he brought her an expensive present. So she sat in his lap, unresisting, while he smothered her with kisses and caressed her hair. He was much older than she.

"Are you a married man?" she asked him.

"Of course," he answered. "What a ridiculous question."

Then he kissed her again, and she never protested.

Her neighbors knew her as a quiet girl, who cared little for companionship or discourse. Her rooms were rented and paid for by a man she called her "daddy." As a matter of fact he was a married man, much older than she, old enough to be her father.

And she was his daughter, aged four and a half.

LATE AGAIN? NOT YET.

Bishop, wishing to be on time for breakfast at least once this year, borrowed an alarm clock. "We don't often use it," said Bradley, "and sometimes it sticks a little, but if it doesn't go off tomorrow just touch the little lever and it will ring all right."

NATURAL

A haggard Freshman was seen walking sadly about the campus during the first week of school. In the class-room he answers to the name of Gearhardt. When asked what was worrying him, we found that he had not had any great amount of sleep for the entire time he had been here.

"The lights stay lit in my room all the time and I can't sleep at night," he complained.

"Why don't you put it out."

"I tried to blow it out but they have put it in a bottle and it won't blow out."

"Pop" Cassell says that his favorite hymn is,

"We can Sing, Full Tho' We Be." (Weak and Sinful Tho' We Be.)

"The falling leaves fill me with melancholy thoughts," said Crouse, the poet.

"They used to have that effect on me," said Ide, the prosey man.

"What changed you?"

"Oh, I don't have to rake them up on the campus any more, I have a job as waiter."

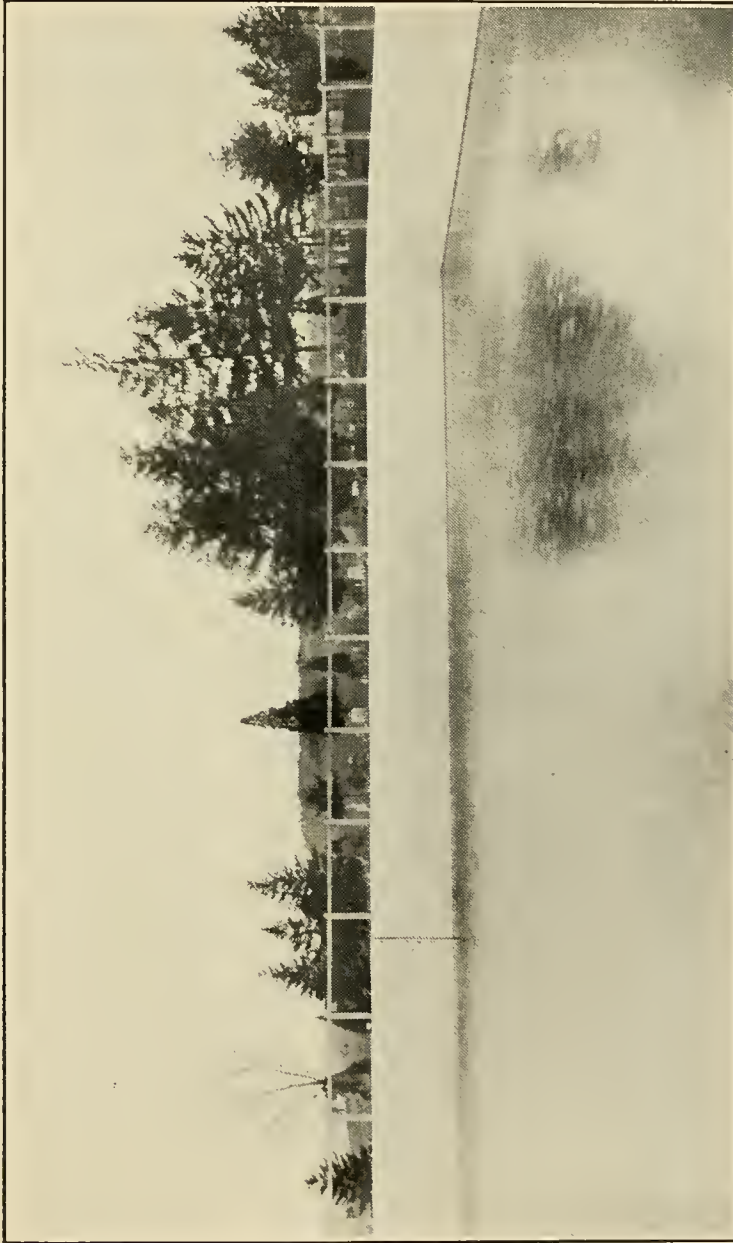

Bard: "My girl had an accident when out riding in my machine the other day."

Riden: "I'm sorry, was there much damage done?"

Bard: "A fair amount, a smashed up back and a few loose screws."

Riden: "Your poor girl."

Bard: "Were you referring to her? She only got a broken leg."

"Are you still engaged to that homely Smith girl?"

"No, I'm not."

"Good for you, old man. You had my sympathy when you were. How did you get out of it?"

"Married her."

Dr. Diehl: "Miss Folkman, will you please tell us what causes the roaring you can hear in a sea shell."

Ruth: "The fact that it has been in the sea so long."

Bollinger: "Gee, there's a lot of girls that don't want to get married."

Breining: "How do you know?"

Bollinger: "I've asked them."

Chesley: "You think I'm cutting your hair too short?"

Smith: "Yes, don't make me look like a girl."

Willie's reading lesson was about ships. He came to a word he could not pronounce. "Barque," prompted the teacher. Willie, looked at his classmates and laughed. "Barque," exclaimed the teacher harshly. Willie, looking up at his teacher: "Bow-wow."

Stan: "So you have come around to pay me that money that you owe me, eh?"

Jim: "Not at all, quite the contrary, you made the statement at the frat last evening that I owed you fifty dollars. As a matter of fact the accounts show that I owe only $47.50 and I've come to collect that balance of $2.50."

Dr. Dunkelberger: "Why is a giraffe's neck so long?"

Derr: "Because its head is such a long way from its body."

Marion: "I won't even consider marrying you. You are the most stupid, idiotic, asinine creature on earth. You are repulsive, abhorrent and miserable. I wouldn't marry if you were the last man on earth. I hate you; you are despicable."

Addison: "Do I understand that you are rejecting my proposal?"

"What became of that hired hand you got from the city?"

"Aw, he used to be a chauffeur, and the doggone idiot crawled under a mule to see why it wouldn't go."

Joe Dumb (quoting Virgil): "Slave, where is thy horse?"

Bing (sleepily): "Here in my pocket, sir."

Prexy: "I asked your name, not your occupation."

Carson: "Can I kiss you?"

He, at Junior Prom: "I see that Miss Weikert has joined the great majority."

She: "And she seemed in such good health when I saw her last."

He: "I didn't say she was dead. She married a fellow named Smith."

Dreibelbis: "Hickory Corners is acknowledged to be the best laid out town in the state."

Dr. Surface: "It ought to be; it's been dead forty years."

HALF-MINUTE ESSAY

A man may marry a wife or a bridge player.
A woman may marry a man or a golf player.
Nobody can keep their mind on kids and bridge.
Nor on groceries and golf.

The evensong of children in a bridge-infested family is "What is Home Without a Mother?"

And all over the golf links in fair weather are baby voices pleading, "Father, dear father, come home with me now; the rent is past due and we're clear out of chow."

Brigitis and golfitis are like halatosis—

Nobody will admit he has them. There is only one known cure—paralysis.
